

Sorrowfully Hushed Funeral Train Carries Dwight Eisenhower Home

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)— With black crepe drawn across its windows, a funeral train hushed with sorrow hurried across the majesty of America today, carrying Dwight David Eisenhower home forever.

From the grandeur of a state funeral in the nation's capital, the train bore the body of the gentle warrior back to the broad plains for burial in what was a boyhood cornfield.

Through the Civil War battlefields of Virginia, across the mountains of Appalachia, clusters of townspeople gathered by the railroad tracks in the night to pay final homage to the man they knew as "Ike."

From a crowd in the cold darkness at Charlottesville, Va., rose the soaring words of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

A battered baggage car, flaked by age, carried the black velvet bier of the 34th President of the United States on his last journey.

At the rear of the train, came the private railroad car of the former President, this time carrying his widow on the long trip west from Washington.

At midnight the funeral train will reach Abilene, the last scene for the five days of farewell to the general who led history's mightiest armies to victory in World War II.

The burial, beside his first son who died in infancy, will be Wednesday in the Eisenhower Center, a memorial library and chapel built on what was a cornfield when the world leader was a boy in this frontier cattle town at the turn of the century.

President Nixon, the political heir whom Eisenhower lived to see in the White House at last, will fly here for the final services.

Nixon was blinking back tears as he left the train station in Washington Monday after the flag-covered coffin was carried aboard the funeral car to begin the 1,300-mile trip in the twilight of a chilly spring day.

Nixon led the great of the world as they sat on simple cane chairs beneath the soaring splendor of the Washington National Cathedral to mourn the 78-year-old fallen President in a solemn state funeral.

"The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord," intoned the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the cathedral and grandson of another president, Woodrow Wilson.

The presidential widow, Mamie Doud Eisenhower, veiled in black, held onto the arm of her son John during the services and wept quietly at the last hymn: "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

In the front row sat the tall, frowning figure of Charles de Gaulle, President of France, comrade in arms of Eisenhower and now, at 78, among the last of the allied leaders of that brutal war.

Lyndon B. Johnson, one of the nation's two surviving ex-presidents, returned to Washington for the first time for the funeral, exactly one year to the very day after his historic announcement that he would not run again.

But missing from the 2,100 mourners was Milton S. Eisenhower, 68, youngest brother of the late President. Dr. Eisenhower, who collapsed with fatigue before the funeral, was considered in satisfactory condition today.

He remained overnight at Walter Reed Army Hospital, the same hospital where his brother died last Friday after an epic battle against seven heart attacks and, finally, congestive heart failure.

From the towering Gothic cathedral, the body was borne by hearse to the train station in sight of the majestic dome of the U. S. Capitol, where Eisenhower had lain in state for the last day.

A 21-gun salute at dusk, the measured cadence of military footsteps, a hush amid the mourners, accompanied the simple soldier's casket to its black catafalque in the baggage car.

Choirs To Perform Service Of Darkness

The combined choirs of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Red Bluff will perform "A Service of Darkness" by Dale Wood at a special Candlelight Communion Service Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church.

This Service of Darkness commemorates the suffering and death of Christ, and is based on the ancient Tenebrae. Dating from the 8th century, Tenebrae was originally celebrated on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of Holy Week.

The seven contemporary anthems in the Service of Darkness are seven meditations, based on the Seven Words from the Cross. With each meditation, the candles are progressively extinguished. The glow from the last vigil candle indicates that death only seems to triumph over Christ, and points toward the coming Resurrection.

The solemnity of the occasion is even more meaningful when the choir enters in silent procession, and both choir and congregation leave the church in silence.

The service will be led by the Rev. Doyle Porter and the Rev. George Clemmons. Mrs. Ruth Davis will play the organ and the choir will be conducted by William Borror.

The three were released to their parents, and are scheduled to appear before the County Probation Department on April 2.

Three junior high school boys were arrested yesterday by Red Bluff Police officers on charges of malicious mischief. They were charged with breaking into Bidwell School over the weekend.

The three were released to their parents, and are scheduled to appear before the County Probation Department on April 2.

The possibility that Tehama County hospitalization of psychiatric patients under the state-financed Short-Doyle program might be in St. Elizabeth Hospital was raised last night at a meeting of the Comprehensive Health Planning Committee, and received some favorable attention.

No formal action was taken on the suggestion, but discussion indicated that the idea will likely receive attention at the next meeting, which will probably be on April 15.

Members of the committee met last night with two state officials, John Barr of the State Health Department and Alger Gillespie of the Department of Mental Hygiene; and with Dr. Gerald Maguire, who has charge of Short-Doyle mental health programs in Butte, Glenn and Colusa Counties.

Also entering in the discussion was Dr. Kenneth Cole, who has charge of the mental health program in Tehama County, and Dr. Thomas Enloe of Chico, executive director of Superior California comprehensive health planning.

Two matters in addition to the possibilities open in regard to mental health hospitalization and use of Tehama General Hospital were taken up, and decisions made. It was decided that the Tehama County Comprehensive Health Planning Committee will meet on the third Tuesday of each month, and the committee approved a proposal for a $150,000 remodeling project at Corning Memorial Hospital.

It wasn't specified that the next meeting of the committee would be on the third Tuesday of this month, but Richard Pugh, Red Bluff attorney who served as chairman of last night's meeting, said he planned to call one.

Henry Kibsgaard, administrator of Corning Memorial Hospital, presented the remodeling plans to the council, explaining that such submission is required under present state rules. Principal changes contemplated are installation of a larger emergency power unit, and moving the location of the delivery room to make it adjacent to the obstetrical wing.

He explained that when the hospital was built, the delivery room was placed next to the surgery as a state-advised economy measure.

Dr. Maguire introduced the concept of having Short-Doyle patients cared for at St. Elizabeth, declaring that he favored treatment of a large number of his psychiatric patients in the same facilities used for other patients. It had previously been brought out that in order to qualify for state funds, the psychiatric patients would have to be cared for in a hospital where there is provision for acute care, or where such care is readily available nearby.

Dr. Cole had proposed several weeks ago that only patients being held for up to 72 hours be hospitalized at Tehama (Continued on page 8)

U.S. Air Cavalrymen In Viet Cong War Zone

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP)— Thousands of helicopter-borne U. S. air cavalrymen are leapfrogging through the Viet Cong's War Zone C, pursuing an estimated 7,500 troops of two North Vietnamese divisions, military spokesmen said today.

The air cavalrymen were chasing the enemy's 1st and 7th divisions, which are believed to have pulled back into the jungles of northern Tay Ninh province near the Cambodian border after eluding a 10,000-man American sweep called Operation Atlas Wedge.

Atlas Wedge was conducted in the Michelin rubber plantations in the southern half of Tay Ninh province, 45 miles northwest of Saigon. The new drive is called Montana Scout after the native state of the 1st Air Cav's commander, Maj. Gen. George I. Forsythe. Spokesmen said it is about half the size of Atlas Wedge.

The new sweep was preceded by massive B52 bombing raids. Thirty of the bombers dumped nearly 1,000 tons of explosives on War Zone C in the past 24 hours, spokesmen said.

"It looks like they also are receiving replacements. But they are farther away from Saigon now."

Battalions of air cavalrymen who have been operating around Saigon have been moved north to join the hunt for the North Vietnamese. They have built new artillery bases and are fanning out in follow-up sweeps after B52 strikes.

The only significant action reported so far occurred last Saturday, when North Vietnamese 1st Division troops attacked air cavalrymen building one of the new bases. Nine Americans were killed, 25 were wounded and the bodies of 35 North Vietnamese were found.

Military analysts said the retreat of the two North Vietnamese divisions into War Zone C was part of a general withdrawal forced on the foe by heavy losses suffered in his five-week-old offensive. The Viet Cong's 9th Division, which is supposed to spearhead any attack on Saigon, also is reported in Tay Ninh province.

Allied officers estimate more than 20,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed since the offensive began Feb. 23, at least 6,000 of them in the 3rd Military Corps area extending from Cambodia through Saigon to the South China Sea.

About 1,400 Americans have been killed, 150 wounded in the same period, according to unofficial figures.

The American toll for last week is expected to be higher than 200.

Sample Ballots Mailed

Sample ballots and polling place notices for the April 15 school trustee elections have been mailed to registered voters, Joseph C. Rapose, county schools superintendent, has announced.

Because county "voting precincts" sometimes lie in two or more school districts, voters may receive more than one sample ballot and polling place notice. Voters may vote only in the elementary district in which they live and should disregard the ballot of that district in which they do not live.

Voters who expect to be away from home school trustee election day may apply now to Rapose, for an absentee voter ballot.

Request for absentee ballots must be in writing and state the reason for requesting an absentee ballot. April 8 is the last day requests can be received by Superintendent Rapose, whose office is Room 35, Courthouse, Red Bluff.

Voted absentee ballots must be received by 5 p.m., Monday, April 14, in the County Schools Office.

Seventy candidates are seeking 35 school board positions in Tehama County School districts. Requirements for a school trustee are two: Be a registered voter and a resident of the school district for which he is seeking election.

'Old Highway 36 Loop' Of News Story Is State Route 172

James W. Moore, president of Mill Creek Summer Home Improvement Association, has pointed out that the "old Highway 36 loop" referred to in a Daily News article dealing with amendment of Senate Bill 174 is properly designated as State Route 172, and that it runs past Mill Creek Homesites.

Incidentally, he said that Senate Bill 174 was introduced by Senator Randolph Collier, Yreka. Before amending, the bill would have dropped State Route 172 from the state system, thus throwing cost of maintaining it to Tehama County.

Choirs To Perform Service Of Darkness

The combined choirs of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Red Bluff will perform "A Service of Darkness" by Dalc Wood at a special Candlelight Communion Service Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church.

This Service of Darkness commemorates the suffering and death of Christ, and is based on the ancient Tenebrae. Dating from the 8th century, Tenebrae was originally celebrated on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of Holy Week. It represented the darkness that fell over the earth as the Son of God was crucified. The use of candlelight this Maundy Thursday will also dramatically portray the fading light of the world as Christ was leaving it.

The seven contemporary anthems in the Service of Darkness are seven meditations, based on the Seven Words from the Cross. With each meditation, the candles are progressively extinguished. The glow from the last vigil candle indicates that death only seems to triumph over Christ, and points toward the coming Resurrection. The three were released to their parents, and are scheduled to appear before the County Probation Department on April 2.

U.S. Air Cavalrymen In Viet Cong War Zone

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP)— Thousands of helicopter-borne U. S. air cavalrymen are leapfrogging through the Viet Cong's War Zone C, pursuing an estimated 7,500 troops of two North Vietnamese divisions, military spokesmen said today.

The air cavalrymen were chasing the enemy's 1st and 7th divisions, which are believed to have pulled back into the jungles of northern Tay Ninh province near the Cambodian border after eluding a 10,000-man American sweep called Operation Atlas Wedge.

Atlas Wedge was conducted in the Michelin rubber plantations in the southern half of Tay Ninh province, 45 miles northwest of Saigon. The new drive is called Montana Scout after the native state of the 1st Air Cav's commander, Maj. Gen. George L. Forsythe. Spokesmen said it is about half the size of Atlas Wedge.

The new sweep was preceded by massive B52 bombing raids. Thirty of the bombers dumped nearly 1,000 tons of explosives on War Zone C in the past 24 hours, spokesmen said.

"It looks like they also are receiving replacements. But they are farther away from Saigon now."

Battalions of air cavalrymen who have been operating around Saigon have been moved north to join the hunt for the North Vietnamese. They have built new artillery bases and are fanning out in follow-up sweeps after B52 strikes.

The only significant action reported so far occurred last Saturday, when North Vietnamese 1st Division troops attacked air cavalrymen building one of the new bases. Nine Americans were killed, 25 were wounded and the bodies of 35 North Vietnamese were found. Military analysts said the retreat of the two North Vietnamese divisions into War Zone C was part of a general withdrawal forced on the foe by heavy losses suffered in his five-week-old offensive. The Viet Cong's 9th Division, which is supposed to spearhead any attack on Saigon, also is reported in Tay Ninh province.

Allied officers estimate more than 20,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed since the offensive began Feb. 23, at least 6,000 of them in the 3rd Military Corps area extending from Cambodia through Saigon to the South China Sea.

About 1,400 Americans have been killed, 150 wounded in the same period, according to unofficial figures.

Ben Webster Speaks At BPW Meeting

Ben Webster, fifth grade student at Lincoln St. School, was the featured speaker at the Red Bluff Business and Professional Women's Club March dinner meeting held at the Westside Grange.

Ben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Webster, who had last summer toured United States, spoke about Thomas Jefferson's early life, parental background and stressed the various offices Thomas had held in governmental work, such as membership in the House of Burgess, Governor of Virginia, Ambassador to France, and his two terms of presidency. He told of Jefferson's part in drafting the Declaration of Independence.

Introduction was by his classroom teacher, Mrs. Lurlene Dinnean, who also presented Mrs. Ann Ruffner from Lincoln St. School, Mrs. Ruffner accompanied the entire fifth grade class on her guitar while they sang.

Mrs. Thelma Miller and Mrs. Iva Traynor were elected to serve on the Edna Black Memorial Scholarship of the Red Bluff BPW Club.

Gerda Von Rooyen, first vice-president, presented a suggestion that the club purchase two trees to be planted near the Chamber of Commerce building as a part of their beautification program.

President Ernie Parry thanked the legislative committee for their part in providing the evening's entertainment and table decorations. They were Lurlene Dinnean, chairman, Ruth Casady, Helen Hickman and Esther Ballard.

The next meeting, April 9, would be held at Westside Grange and would be a combination initiation of new members and installation of officers.

Emblem Club Hears Talk On Visit To Denmark

Miss Janice Ewing, exchange student to Denmark in 1967-68, was the guest speaker of the Red Bluff Emblem Club at their monthly social meeting held in the Elks Hall.

Miss Ewing, introduced by club president Mrs. Merton Andersen, traveled to Denmark through the International Christian Youth Exchange Program, arriving in Copenhagen the Fourth of July, 1967. Before leaving the states Miss Ewing spent a two week orientation period in Philadelphia with approximately 120 other students traveling to various parts of Europe on the same program.

Members and guests enjoyed the slides shown and commentary of Denmark, Paris and Berne, Switzerland. Of great interest to those present was the statement of Miss Ewing that, "Denmark is the only nation in the world that helps the United States celebrate its Independence Day." She further stated that there was no alcoholic problem with the youth of Denmark.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Maxine Ewing, Mrs. Doris Myre, Mrs. George K. Mullins and David Tow.

After a question and answer period refreshments were served from a gaily decorated table in the Easter motif. The refreshment committee were Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, Mrs. James Cox, Mrs. Robert Shattuck and Mrs. John Fantani.

Cancer Society Hears April Crusade Plans

Preliminary to the annual Cancer Crusade, in progress during the month of April, was the third quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Butte-Glenn-Tehama Branch of the American Cancer Society, held at the Crystal Tavern. Meeting with the board members were a number of chairmen and guests, numbering about 40.

Dr. Frank Greene, Red Bluff Unit chairman, welcomed the group following the dinner and introduced Mrs. Albert Winter, 1968-69 president of the tri-county organization. She, in turn, presented Carl Leverenz, Branch Crusade chairman for 1969, who reviewed plans, so far, in obtaining volunteer workers in the various communities. He emphasized the Branch goal of $34,200 must be reached in order to assist in continuation of the American Cancer Society's program of research, education and service to the cancer patient. He reported that a number of the units are sponsoring special benefit events to raise their quota. Mrs. Pearl Bonham has charge of volunteer workers in the Red Bluff area. Mrs. Adele Marks and Dr. Robert Schell, both of Chico, reported on a meeting of the Regional Medical Program, which they attended recently in San Francisco.

Mrs. Catherine Hendrix of Chico, executive director of the Butte-Glenn-Tehama Branch, who has replaced Mrs. Muriel Brungard in that office, presented two films, one entitled "Farber-Lewis," an interview of the National A.C.S. president, Sidney Farber, M.D., with the board chairman, William B. Lewis, concerning advances being made in cancer treatment and research.

The second film, a narration by William Tallman of television fame, a victim of cancer, was a plea to fight the dread disease. These two films of eight minutes, each are available to clubs and organizations, by contacting the American Cancer Society, 1224 Mangrove Ave., Chico.

Couple From Alaska Visit The Youngers

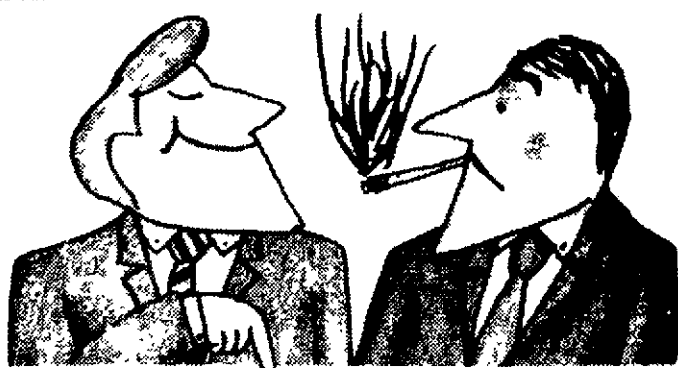

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Younger during the past ten days were their daughter, Judy, and husband, Chief Engineer Charles Kirkwood of Kodiak, Alaska. The couple left this weekend for San Francisco from where they will fly to their home in the far north.

Kirkwood, with the U.S. Navy for 14 years, has just completed a tour of duty in Australia, Japan, Vietnam and is scheduled to leave April 7 for a year's re-assignment over much of the same area.

Mrs. Kirkwood is a government employee at the naval installation at Kodiak and the couple has purchased a home there. She reports the island is recovering following a severe tidal wave a few years ago and there is considerable re-building and road construction under way.

Residents of the island travel to Anchorage for supplies since there are no shops nor markets on the island and most everything is shipped in.

During their visit in the States the Kirkwoods also spent some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirkwood at Roseville.

If you don't smoke cigarettes, you pay less for life insurance with Farmers new Non-Smoker Policy.

Studies show you're a better insurance risk than cigarette smokers. Doesn't it make sense that you should pay less for life insurance?

Farmers says "Yes." If you haven't smoked a cigarette for two years, we'll save you real money. Or if you only plan to kick the habit, we have a plan that will switch you over to the lower rates in short order.

If you've needed additional protection, now's the time to get it and save. It's almost like buying insurance at a younger man's rate! Get the full story on the Non-Smoker Policy from your Farmers agent. He's in the Yellow Pages under "Farmers Insurance Group".

Teen-age Mail

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am a faithful reader of your column, and the help you are giving teen-agers is wonderful!

I am almost 15 years old and large for my age. I have never seen my real father and my stepfather treats me like an animal. He accuses me of things I don't do and has told me at least a half a dozen times to leave home.

But, I just can't seem to get up the nerve to do it. There is a boy I love who wants me to run off and marry him. I love my mother too much to do that although, in a way, I feel as though she is to blame for what's happening to me. Don't you think if she loved me she would let me live with one of my relatives instead of making me stay here and live in misery? Could you recommend someone whom I could talk to about my situation? Please help me, Mrs. Ricker, real soon. I've never been so upset in my whole life! KITTY

Local Man To Claim Bride In San Bernardino

CORNING — Mrs. Rose Newcomer of San Bernardino has announced the engagement of her daughter, Teresa, to Sgt. Robert B. Bales, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bales of Corning.

The bride-elect is a senior at Pacific High School.

Sgt. Bales was graduated from the Corning schools. He is serving in the Air Force, stationed at Norton Air Force Base.

The couple will exchange vows June 21 in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in San Bernardino.

Berne, Switzerland. Of great interest to those present was the statement of Miss Ewing that, "Denmark is the only nation in the world that helps the United States celebrate its Independence Day." She further stated that there was no alcoholic problem with the youth of Denmark.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Maxine Ewing, Mrs. Doris Myre, Mrs. George K. Mullins and David Tow.

After a question and answer period refreshments were served from a gaily decorated table in the Easter motif. The refreshment committee were Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, Mrs. James Cox, Mrs. Robert Shattuck and Mrs. John Faniani.

Cancer Society Hears April Crusade Plans

Preliminary to the annual Cancer Crusade, in progress during the month of April, was the third quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Butte-Glenn-Tehama Branch of the American Cancer Society, held at the Crystal Tavern. Meeting with the board members were a number of chairmen and guests, numbering about 40.

Dr. Frank Greene, Red Bluff Unit chairman, welcomed the group following the dinner and introduced Mrs. Albert Winter, 1968-69 president of the tri-county organization. She, in turn, presented Carl Leverenz, Branch Crusade chairman for 1969, who reviewed plans, so far, in obtaining volunteer workers in the various communities. He emphasized the Branch goal of $34,200 must be reached in order to assist in continuation of the American Cancer Society's program of research, education and service to the cancer patient. He reported that a number of the units are sponsoring special benefit events to raise their quota. Mrs. Pearl Bonham has charge of volunteer workers in the Red Bluff area. Mrs. Adele Marks and Dr. Robert Schell, both of Chico, reported on a meeting of the Regional Medical Program, which they attended recently in San Francisco.

Mrs. Catherine Hendrix of Chico, executive director of the Butte-Glenn-Tehama Branch, who has replaced Mrs. Muriel Brungard in that office, presented two films, one entitled "Farber-Lewis," an interview of the National A.C.S. president, Sidney Farber, M.D., with the board chairman, William B. Lewis, concerning advances being made in cancer treatment and research.

The second film, a narration by William Tallman of television fame, a victim of cancer, was a plea to fight the dread disease. These two films of eight minutes, each are available to clubs and organizations, by contacting the American Cancer Society, 1224 Mangrove Ave., Chico.

Couple From Alaska Visit The Youngers

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Younger during the past ten days were their daughter, Judy, and husband, Chief Engineer Charles Kirkwood of Kodiak, Alaska. The couple left this weekend for San Francisco from where they will fly to their home in the far north.

Kirkwood, with the U.S. Navy for 14 years, has just completed a tour of duty in Australia, Japan, Vietnam and is scheduled to leave April 7 for a year's re-assignment over much of the same area.

Mrs. Kirkwood is a government employee at the naval installation at Kodiak and the couple has purchased a home there. She reports the island is recovering following a severe tidal wave a few years ago and there is considerable re-building and road construction under way.

Residents of the island travel to Anchorage for supplies since there are no shops nor markets on the island and most everything is shipped in.

During their visit in the States the Kirkwoods also spent some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirkwood at Roseville.

Cake Walk For Westside Grange

Among the plans announced for the meeting of Westside Grange on April 8, according to the lecturer, Robert Leep, are a cake walk, with grangers each bringing a cake.

A surprise feature to "test the wits" of the members is also planned.

RENEW WOOD

Equal parts of turpentine, linseed oil and vinegar mixed and rubbed with a soft flannel cloth, then polished with a chamois will remove that dingy appearance that age gives to fine wood.

Local Man To Claim Bride In San Bernardino

CORNING — Mrs. Rose Newcomer of San Bernardino has announced the engagement of her daughter, Teresa, to Sgt. Robert B. Bales, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bales of Corning.

The bride-elect is a senior at Pacific High School. Sgt. Bales was graduated from the Corning schools. He is serving in the Air Force, stationed at Norton Air Force Base.

The couple will exchange vows June 21 in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in San Bernardino.

Elect Officers Of Lassen View PTA

Newly elected officers of Lassen View PTA are Sal Flores, president; Marilyn Long, vice-president; Bonnie Pfeiffer, second vice-president; Charles Smith, third vice-president; Judy Dodge, recording secretary; Rose Houston, corresponding secretary; David Spanfeller, treasurer; Don Moore, auditor; Doris Remund, room mother chairman; Ken Lindauer, parliamentarian; Pat Hulseman, historian.

A vote on whether or not to become an independent parents club resulted in the majority voting to remain a part of the national PTA.

It was reported that an estimated 300 persons attended the Dime-A-Dip dinner at the school which featured decorations around a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Teen-age Mail

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am a faithful reader of your column, and the help you are giving teen-agers is wonderful.

I am almost 15 years old and large for my age. I have never seen my real father and my stepfather treats me like an animal. He accuses me of things I don't do and has told me at least a half a dozen times to leave home.

But, I just can't seem to get up the nerve to do it. There is a boy I love who wants me to run off and marry him. I love my mother too much to do that although, in a way, I feel as though she is to blame for what's happening to me.

Don't you think if she loved me she would let me live with one of my relatives instead of making me stay here and live in misery? Could you recommend someone whom I could talk to about my situation? Please help me, Mrs. Ricker, real soon. I've never been so upset in my whole life! KITTY minor one, I guess, but it is important to me. My sister is two years older than I am and is very popular. I have as many friends as she does but whenever they come to see me she takes over the whole conversation. She talks about what SHE does, where SHE goes and what SHE thinks until I believe I could even leave the room and it would not be noticed.

Trying to enter the conversation hasn't helped either. Please advise me what to do. JAM

Dear Jam:

Mom and Dad should help you with this problem. I think they should discuss it with your sister and tell her she is not to take over the conversation when your friends are visiting you. If your parents won't help you and Sister continues her behavior, why not turn the tables on her? Perhaps if you do the same things with her friends that she does with yours, she will realize just how annoying and aggravating it can be.

Dear Kitty:

In my opinion, your mother should try to do something to help your situation. If she is afraid of your stepfather, this could explain why she allows him to mistreat you. But, speaking as another, I believe her first duty is to you, since you are a minor. Of course, you must do your part to try to get along with your stepfather as amicably as possible.

If there is nothing that can be done to improve conditions at home, and you have relatives who would welcome you and treat you kindly, I think your mother should give her consent to let you live with them.

Do not consider leaving home to be on your own or think of marriage at your age. It is more than likely it would only be a case of jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

If something isn't worked out to make your home life happier I suggest you consult the religious adviser of your church or a director of the nearest Family Service Agency.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am an average 14-year-old girl. My problem is a

Two Dances This Week For Teen Council

Two dances will be held by the Red Bluff Teen Council this week.
The first one on Wednesday night will have one of the better bands that Red Bluff has had, according to council spokesman. This is the "New Yorkers," who will play at the National Guard Armory from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $1.50.
The Saturday dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Armory will feature the "Fire" band, and admission is $1.50.
Activities of the Teen Council this past weekend included selling Easter lilies on behalf of the Easter Seal Society and attendance by some members at the Teen Club Conference of clubs in northern California, which was held in Orland.

Kathryn Dutro Will Participate In Chico Discussion

LOS MOLINOS — Kathryn Dutro of Los Molinos High School, winner of the Bank of America Science and Mathematics plaque, will participate in round table discussion in Chico April 10.
Eleven other schools will be represented. Questions will be asked by a five member panel of civic leaders. Ballots will be tabulated and three winners in each general field will be determined.

First place winner in each general field will advance to the final selection event in Sacramento May 1. Second and third place winners in each general field will receive cash awards of $50 and $25 respectively.

Final Concert Series Of High Caliber

By LEE PETERS
Thomas Uchtmann, pianist, in the season's final program of the Tehama County Community Concert series, presented a program of unusually high caliber at the boys gym of Red Bluff Union High School.
The audience somewhat smaller than usual more than compensated for its size by the appreciative applause and recognition of the talented performance.
One of the youngest pianists to ever play here, the 25 year old Uchtmann displayed a technique and a warmth of interpretation that was immediately discernible in the first number, the "Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue in D minor," by Bach.

Immediately following were two smaller selections by Brahms, very adequately interpreted, for Brahms, who began as a performer, understandably wrote for the virtuoso pianist.
Uchtmann's versatility at the keyboard was shown when in the next number he turned to a more modern composer, Scriabin, with his mystical and original harmonic system.

The first half concluded with pleasurable moments of Beethoven's "Sonata in F sharp major."
The second half was entirely devoted to Liszt, whose brilliance as a pianist was equalled by his ability as a creative composer, and Uchtmann proved himself equal to the formidable goal of not letting technique overshadow the powerful, and at times, poignant Lisztian sound.

Although the programming, on the whole, was more of a "musician's concert," the audience was so pleased with his dazzling technique and emotional depth, that it took four encores before the audience allowed Uchtmann to go.

Barbara Endures Pains While Twin Has Baby Girl

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Barbara Moigan had labor pains but her twin sister Gillian had the baby.
It was a relief for the 19-year-old identical twins when Gillian Crosby finally gave birth to a 7-pound 14-ounce daughter

Thursday. An hour before the birth in Wythenshawe Maternity Hospital, Mrs. Crosby sent this message to her sister:
"Hang on, Barbara, it won't be long now."
Barbara, under sedatives to ease the pain she was suffering at home, gritted her teeth then suddenly fell asleep immediately after Gillian's baby was born.

Doctors who examined both girls said it was a case of an unusually strong "sympathetic affinity" often observed between identical twins.

Still The Search Goes On

General Eisenhower, revisiting the scene of the Normandy invasion and graves of fallen American soldiers, declared with sincere emotion: "This must never happen again." But today as the train carries his body to its last resting place on the Kansas plain American soldiers are still dying on foreign soil, and the end is nowhere in sight.

It must be plain to everyone by now that it is going to take something more than the sacrifices on Omaha Beach and the slopes of Iwo Jima, and of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne before that, and of Pork Chop Hill and the A Shau Valley since to make sure that "this will never happen again."

Very likely we can never be sure. But the question we must ask ourselves is: "Are we doing everything we can to head off its happening again?" Are we searching for new ways to peace? Or are we following in the old ruts? Are those of us who are not slogging through the sniper-infested Vietnam jungle doing more than hoping for a quick victory there?

Victory in Vietnam is not even a promise of temporary peace. The armies which General Eisenhower commanded on the sweep from the Normandy beaches to the Rhine, the Main and the Oder gained as complete a victory as could have been hoped for. But that has not meant that we can relax and turn our thoughts to peace alone.

Korea and Vietnam and the threat in the Middle East have made it plain that massive armaments and possession of the hydrogen bomb have not enabled us to save the world to peace. In this explosive world, we would be more than foolhardy to be without them. When all else fails we can turn to them as we did in Hitler's day. But that is always at the risk of tremendous sacrifice.

If long before that day we could have strong machinery of peace set up it might be different. That is not an easy matter, as the long-dead League of Nations and the largely ineffective United Nations make plain. But that is the only approach that has brought order in the lesser affairs of men. It seems to offer the only chance.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Parts of the Farmer's Wife column last Thursday was very interesting, especially the item about "City Farmers"—the income tax evasion boys who, for a long time have abused the Right-of' privilege on the ground they are promoting agricultural interests, etc. The fraud in Southern California has been extensive for years and it is heartening to know the Internal Revenue Service is taking drastic steps.

On our Bend property for several years we have gone to considerable expense improving some acreage ostensibly for growing walnuts and prunes; and while making the land improvement we could show no profit; this led the I.R.S. at time of audit to suppose we were seeking the customary write-off without sufficient evidence we had bonafide agricultural plans. A rather large sum was involved and, of course, we appealed the departments decision asking us to settle on their terms. However, within reasonably short time the department at Redding conducted an investigation and found we were altogether sincere and rightfully engaged in a serious undertaking instead of a pernicious tax evasion fraud as commonly practiced in many parts of the state. The Redding office showed patience and unusual diligence in their investigation of our situation and commended our effort, also an apology for any inconvenience we might have experienced.

I am pleased to make this statement in public because so many taxpayers are prone to criticize the Internal Revenue Service either because of misinformation, innate prejudice or downright cussedness—all of which I emphatically deny. Sincerely, Bruce Wheeler, Sr.

Today In History

A Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, April 1, the 91st day of 1969. There are 274 days left in the year. This is April Fool's Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, American armed forces, supported by a naval armada of more than 1,400 ships, began the invasion of Okinawa during the Pacific War.

On this date: In 1789, the U.S. House of Representatives held its first full session.

In 1914, civil government was inaugurated in the Panama Canal zone.

In 1918, Britain's Royal Air Force was formed.

In 1937, Britain separated Burma from India and set it up as a crown colony.

In 1939, the United States recognized the new Franco government in Spain.

In 1945, allied troops in World War II encircled the Ruhr, trapping 300,000 German troops.

Ten years ago—The United States temporarily restricted the movement of Soviet diplomats to retaliate for similar action in the U.S.S.R.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: DWIGHT EISENHOWER'S LAST WARNING TO AMERICAN PEOPLE SHOULD BE REMEMBERED TODAY; ABM ORIGINALLY CONCEIVED TO TAKE UP POST - WAR ECONOMIC SLACK; DEFENSE CONTRACTORS ARE ALL-POWERFUL

WASHINGTON — The words of Dwight D. Eisenhower which will longest be remembered undoubtedly will be his Jan. 17, 1961 warning to the American people to be wary of a military-industrial alliance.

How true his words were can be ascertained from a review of the facts, most of them hitherto unknown, regarding the anti-ballistic missile system and how it was first okayed by the White House.

It first got the green light from President Johnson in 1967 when he had received rosy intelligence reports about an early end of the war in Vietnam and began looking ahead to the post-war problems that would follow dismantling the Vietnam war machine. His advisers warned that the weapons industry couldn't be permitted to slow down too abruptly without endangering our military-industrial base.

This was Johnson's frame of mind when the Pentagon began making its strongest push for the ABM system. The generals brought him pictorial evidence that the Russians were going ahead with ABM construction, argued that the United States must keep pace. Congressmen whose constituencies would benefit from ABM contracts added to the pressure.

The anticipation of a postwar slump was a big factor in swaying the President. He felt that the ABM system, which would bring new business to as many as 3,000 firms, would take up the expected economic slack in the vital electronic-missile industry.

He was mindful too that 1968 was a political year and that a favorable decision might also bring in some campaign contributions from grateful contractors.

LBJ announced the ABM program in his January 1968 budget message. A few days later, the Tet offensive shattered optimism over an early, triumphant mop-up of the Vietnam fighting.

CHANGING THE EXCUSES

From the first, the advocates had trouble justifying the ABM system. First, they claimed a "thin line" of anti-ballistic missiles was needed to defend the country against an irrational attack from Communist China. They began construction, however, on a site in Massachusetts, a state located in a corner of the USA least threatened by the Red Chinese.

The ABM advocates, hastily backpedaling, next explained that the sites were necessary to protect our cities not only from the Chinese but from the Russians. While acknowledging that a "thin line" could not stop a missile bombardment from the Soviet Union, they suggested it could knock down misfired missiles that might accidentally drop upon a city.

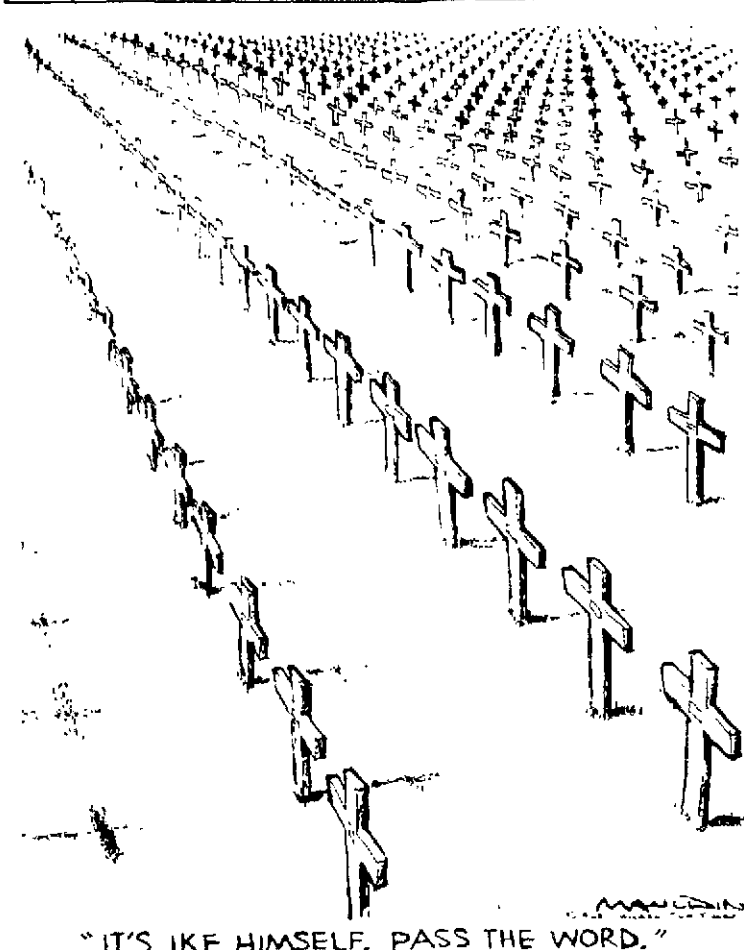

There was an outcry from the cities, however, whose residents seemed more concerned that an ABM missile might backfire than that a Soviet missile would misfire. They feared that the short-range Sprint missiles, in particular, would intercept incoming warheads too close to the cities and contribute to the destruction they were supposed to prevent.

Once again, the advocates abruptly backpedaled and started back around the mulberry bush. Now, they said, the ABM sites were needed not to protect population centers but to defend the unpopulated areas where our Minuteman missile silos are located.

INQUISITIVE SENATOR

At a recent session of the Senate Armed Services Committee, where the doors were closed to permit complete candor, Missouri Sen. Stuart Symington asked how the Pentagon had planned to protect the Minuteman sites a month earlier when the ABM system was still going to be deployed around cities instead of silos.

Matter Of Fact

NOTHING EXCEPTIONAL

NEW YORK — "More drugs, less violence; less drugs, more violence; that's about the size of it!"

The fairly hair-raising equation was quietly offered by one of this city's most humanely wise school superintendents, Elliott Shapiro. It was, in fact, his explanation of the relative calm at Hughes High School, in Lower Manhattan, where more than 40% of students have reached the stage of heroin use, or at least of heroin experiments.

The terrifying increase in hard drug use in the New York schools (which merely predict the future in other big-city schools) is in truth only one side of the medal. The medal's other side is the steady increase of violence, born of racial tension. The violence is rather clearly stimulated and even orchestrated by external organizations like the Students for a Democratic Society and the Maoist-leaning Afro-American Teachers' Assn.

Here, a good case in point is Franklin K. Lane High School on the Brooklyn-Queens border. Lane's huge and handsome building is the focal point of a white middle-class neighborhood, but gerrymandering to produce integration has given Lane a high proportion of black students.

When I went to Lane, it was supposed to be "Black Monday" — the final deadline, in other words, for meeting the "non-negotiable demands" of the school's handful of black militants. The demands were not being met; but it was all as quiet as a May morning, no doubt because of the presence of no less than 75 uniformed police, both inside the school itself and on all the routes of success.

The Lane story, it turned out, was classic. It began, as troubles in the big-city high schools always do, with acute overcrowding. This led to double sessions and to the breakdown of discipline and even of security that double sessions always tend to cause. In this case, the breakdown of security was very grave.

In a fairly short space of time there were over a dozen assaults; and all were assaults on white teachers by black students. These culminated in an attack on still another teacher, Frank Siracusa, by three students acting in concert who cornered him in a stairwell. One held him. One sprayed him with something like lighter fluid. The third ignited his clothes. It was lucky (and Siracusa's assailants were also lucky) that he escaped without serious harm.

The New York Teachers Union thereupon rather understandably demanded police protection inside the school, and this was provided. Meanwhile, the school principal, Morton Selub, moved to restore the school to a single session-schedule by the simple expedient of dropping about 700 persistent truants — absent 30 days or more out of 50 — from Lane's enrollment.

his defense onions. He then wanted to know why we should go to the expense of building Spartan and Spring missiles to knock down enemy warheads if the purpose was merely to protect Minuteman intercontinental missiles for later launching. Why not fire the Minutemen as soon as the enemy onslaught is detected, rather than fire intermediary missiles so that the Minutemen could be launched later? There was more hemming and hawing.

But the $64,000 question is whether the ABM system is really needed for defense or as a sop to the military-industrial complex whose appetite for defense dollars is never stated. Already, 22,000 of the nation's largest manufacturers are major defense contractors. Another 100,000 firms contribute through sub-contracts to the nation's weaponry. Together, they employ 10 per cent of the nation's work force.

This comprises a lobby which wields tremendous political power, particularly in the congressional districts where the defense plants are located. Even the most economy-minded Congressmen are seldom against federal spending in their own constituencies.

They should remember, however, Dwight D. Eisenhower's last words as President: "This conjunction of an immense military establishment and a large arms industry is new in American experience. (Its) total influence, economic, political, even spiritual, is felt in every city, statehouse, every office in the federal government."

has remained under siege, with something like 30 uniformed officers regularly on duty. And the whites of the Cypress-Woodhaven Community Council have now begun to demonstrate in their turn, demanding that the lines of the school district be redrawn once again so that Lane will be mainly white.

The point of telling this grisly story is quite simply, that there is nothing very exceptional about it, barring the Siracusa episode. Dr. Nathan Brown, the able assistant school superintendent of New York City, gave me the estimate that there were at least five other New York high schools in the same state as Lane High School. Ten more, he added, were also threatened with comparable outbreaks of violence.

These are all high schools with large Negro-Puerto Rican student populations. In other schools, where whites predominate — most importantly in the nationally famous Bronx High School of Science — the SDS is also especially active. Here, "confrontations" in the best Columbia-Berkeley style may soon occur.

There is plenty of tinder here to touch matches to, of course. The simplest proof that a good many of the matches are externally supplied is the well-edited, rather expensively printed High School Free Press. This highly obscene propaganda sheet, crammed with every kind of appeal to violence, now circulates widely throughout the New York high schools. It is certainly not the sort of publication schoolboys and girls could either produce or finance.

Such, then, is the present state of this city's school system, which was once the best that any American big city boasted. The decent, hard-working chairman of the school board, John Doar, hopes that "we'll be able to control it — but that means using all the needed measures to meet this level of siege." One must pray Doar is right.

SACRAMENTO — If the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District finally gets the extra money it needs out of the legislature to complete the initial system — and the odds seem good — the next hard look at rapid transit finance may be a more intensive study of how far the state or federal government should go in helping out regional transit.

STOCKTON — Visitors to San Joaquin County can't find many if any residents who aren't fearful of the worst flooding in the area's history when this winter's record-breaking snow pack melts.

LOS ANGELES — Southland politicians are confident Congressman John Tunney has no eyes for the U.S. Senate but has his heart set on running for Lt. Governor against Republican incumbent Ed Reinecke who recently resigned from Congress to be appointed to that post by Governor Reagan.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Can a physician say a word or two about transvestism? I was born and raised in a small town in Maine, I had never heard of homosexuality, let alone transvestism, until I was in high school. Even then it seemed unreal and somewhat disgusting.

In college I became vastly enlightened and in medical school I changed some of my concepts completely. But it wasn't until I did my internship that I really had my eyes opened up. Night duty at the hospital was liberal education. The first year, three prominent men in the community were brought in as emergencies. One had a heart attack, two were in automobile accidents. We discovered they were wearing ladies' underwear when we undressed them for examination. These men were married and had attractive families. There had never been a breath of scandal about any of them. I hope you see a moral in this story and that you will put it into words.

— New Englander

Dear Ann: I see two morals. First, a person can have an oddball quirk and still function well and keep his nuttiness a deep, dark secret. Second: If any of you fellas out there have a hankering for ladies' underwear, consider the possibility that you might get hit by a truck and wind up in the emergency room.

To test the quality of southern sunshine, they left Hooker by way of train to Los Angeles and then on to New Orleans. From there they traveled to New York by boat. Starting inland from Washington, D.C., they headed for Chicago where they made a short stay. After spending a few days in the Twin Cities, they returned home by way of Canada.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The Wonders Of Blood

BLOOD is truly one of the most remarkable elements of the body. Constant new discoveries increase our knowledge of the blood and yet fail to uncover all the secrets that lie within it. Blood is composed of plasma in which red cells, white cells and platelets are suspended.

The red cells have a most important function in binding hemoglobin which plays a vital role of transporting oxygen. Oxygen is probably the single most important factor in maintaining life and good health in all the tissues of the body.

One of the most significant functions of the white blood cells is to act as defenders when germs invade the body. An immediate call is made to the white blood cells to collect around the bacteria and keep infection well localized. An access which "comes to a head" on the skin or elsewhere on the body is due to the healthy formation of pus. This is formed by nature's defense mechanism that uses the white blood cells as front line defenders against such infection.

Platelets play an important role in the complicated mechanism of blood clotting. The science of hematology is probably one of the most exact ones known to medicine. Disorders and abnormalities in the blood that produce anemia, leukemia, and a score of other blood diseases can be accurately determined and followed during active treatment to indicate improvement and control. Too often people are tempted to make their own "home-made" diagnosis of anemia when actually it probably does not exist. Only by blood study can this condition be determined and, if present, the type of treatment automatically follows.

The choice of anesthesia can never be made by the patient. Specialists in the field of anesthesiology are now so highly trained that they custom-choose the type of anesthesia for each particular patient and for the type of surgery involved. There are now new gases like halothane which are replacing or being used in conjunction with other gases. Nitrous oxide, ether, cyclopropane, and chloroform are still used for very special purposes with great efficiency and safety.

As a surgeon I really believe that a good anesthesiologist is one of the most important members of the surgical team. Today they are highly trained and not only do they prepare the patient emotionally but give great sustenance to the surgeon by their ability to increase the safety of this part of surgery.

At a very early age it is imperative that young girls be taught that there is no shame or "dirty aspect" to menstruation. The use of terms like "the curse" or "falling off the roof" is symbolic of poor or inadequate teaching of the wonders of body function.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Epilepsy should not be kept secret from fellow workers.

Still The Search Goes On

General Eisenhower, revisiting the scene of the Normandy invasion and graves of fallen American soldiers, declared with sincere emotion: "This must never happen again." But today as the train carries his body to its last resting place on the Kansas plain American soldiers are still dying on foreign soil, and the end is nowhere in sight.

It must be plain to everyone by now that it is going to take something more than the sacrifices on Omaha Beach and the slopes of Iwo Jima, and of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne before that, and of Pork Chop Hill and the A Shau Valley since to make sure that "this will never happen again."

Very likely we can never be sure. But the question we must ask ourselves is: "Are we doing everything we can to head off its happening again?" Are we searching for new ways to peace? Or are we following in the old ruts? Are those of us who are not slogging through the sniper-infested Vietnam jungle doing more than hoping for a quick victory there?

The medal's other side is the steady increase of violence, born of racial tension. The violence is rather clearly stimulated and even orchestrated by external organizations like the Students for a Democratic Society and the Maoist-leaning Afro-American Teachers' Assn.

Here, a good case in point is Franklin K. Lane High School on the Brooklyn-Queens border. Lane's huge and handsome building is the focal point of a white middle-class neighborhood, but gerrymandering to produce integration has given Lane a high proportion of black students.

When I went to Lane, it was supposed to be "Black Monday" — the final deadline, in other words, for meeting the "non-negotiable demands" of the school's handful of black militants. The demands were not quiet met; but it was all as quiet as a May morning, no doubt because of the presence of no less than 75 uniformed police, both inside the school itself and on all the routes of success.

The Lane story, it turned out, was classic. It began, as troubles in the big-city high schools always do, with acute overcrowding. This led to double sessions and to the breakdown of discipline and even of security that double sessions always tend to cause. In this case, the breakdown of security was very grave.

In a fairly short space of time there were over a dozen assaults; and all were assaults on white teachers by black students. These culminated in an attack on still another teacher, Frank Siracusa, by three students acting in concert who cornered him in a stairwell. One held him, one sprayed him with something like lighter fluid. The third ignited his clothes. It was lucky (and Siracusa's assailants were also lucky) that he escaped without serious harm.

The New York Teachers Union thereupon rather understandably demanded police protection inside the school, and this was provided. Meanwhile, the school principal, Morton Selub, moved to restore the school to a single session-schedule by the simple expedient of dropping about 700 persistent truants — absent 30 days or more out of 50 — from Lane's enrollment.

This supposedly tyrannical act led to much turmoil, including the "nonnegotiable demands" of the school's black militants. Certain concessions were made, but in the main the demands had to be rejected.

Since then, Lane High School

has remained under siege, with something like 30 uniformed officers regularly on duty. And the whites of the Cypress-Woodhaven Community Council have now begun to demonstrate in their turn, demanding that the lines of the school district be redrawn once again so that Lane will be mainly white.

The point of telling this grisly story is quite simply, that there is nothing very exceptional about it, barring the Siracusa episode. Dr. Nathan Brown, the able assistant school superintendent of New York City, gave me the estimate that there were at least five other New York high schools in the same state as Lane High School. Ten more, he added, were also threatened with comparable outbreaks of violence.

These are all high schools with large Negro-Puerto Rican student populations. In other schools, where whites predominate — most importantly in the nationally famous Bronx High School of Science — the SDS is also especially active. Here, "confrontations" in the best Columbia-Berkeley style may soon occur.

There is plenty of tinder here to touch matches to, of course. The simplest proof that a good many of the matches are externally supplied is the well-edited, rather expensively printed High School Free Press. This highly obscene propaganda sheet, crammed with every kind of appeal to violence, now circulates widely throughout the New York high schools. It is certainly not the sort of publication schoolboys and girls could either produce or finance. Such, then, is the present state of this city's school system, which was once the best that any American big city boasted. The decent, hard-working chairman of the school board, John Doar, hopes that "we'll be able to control it — but that means using all the needed measures to meet this level of siege." One must pray Doar is right.

KEYHOLE

SACRAMENTO — If the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District finally gets the extra money it needs out of the legislature to complete the initial system — and the odds seem good — the next hard look at rapid transit finance may be a more intensive study of how far the state or federal government should go in helping out regional transit.

STOCKTON — Visitors to San Joaquin County can't find many if any residents who aren't fearful of the worst flooding in the area's history when this winter's record-breaking snow pack melts.

LOS ANGELES — Southland politicians are confident Congressman John Tunney has no eyes for the U.S. Senate but has his heart set on running for Lt. Governor against Republican incumbent Ed Reinecke who recently resigned from Congress to be appointed to that post by Governor Reagan.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Can a physician say a word or two about transvestism? I was born and raised in a small town in Maine. I had never heard of homosexuality, let alone transvestism, until I was in high school. Even then it seemed unreal and somewhat disgusting.

In college I became vastly enlightened and in medical school I changed some of my concepts completely. But it wasn't until I did my internship that I really had my eyes opened up. Night duty at the hospital was liberal education. The first year, three prominent men in the community were brought in as emergencies. One had a heart attack, two were in automobile accidents. We discovered they were wearing ladies' underwear when we undressed them for examination. These men were married and had attractive families. There had never been a breath of scandal about any of them. I hope you see a moral in this story and that you will put it into words.

— New Englander

Dear New: I see two morals. First, a person can have an oddball quirk and still function well and keep his nuttiness a deep, dark secret. Second: If any of you fellows out there have a hankering for ladies' underwear, consider the possibility that you might get hit by a truck and wind up in the emergency room.

Dear Ann: Once a week six of us guys get together to play poker. The stakes are small and nobody can lose more than five bucks a night — that's the ceiling. We are all 16 and 17 and our parents approve of the games. (We take turns playing at each other's homes.)

A good friend of mine who wins consistently has been cheating. I've been clocking him for three months and I'm positive he shorts the pot, pulls out too much when he's "making change" or calling back a bet. Sometimes he "forgets" to throw in his bet and needs to be reminded. I don't think anyone else is on to him and I don't want to be a stoolie, but I hate to see this guy act so cheap and dishonest. What should I do?

— Keen Observer

Dear Keen: Tell him you suspect a couple of the guys in the game are cheating. Describe the gimmicks and ask if he will keep an eye open along with you.

If he doesn't straighten up and fly right after that ploy, nail him after the next game and tell him if he cheats again you're going to let the whole table know he's kinky.

Dear Ann Landers: Claude and I will be married in May. He was classified 4-F and rejected for the service. I was a WAC and loved every minute of it. I want to get married in my WAC uniform. Claude is against it. What is your view?

— Lansing, Mich.

Dear Mich.: Do you want to be a bride or a drill sergeant? If it's the former, the uniform of the day is a wedding gown or a pastel suit. Shape up, Toots, or Claude may decide, "Hell, no — I won't go!"

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A trip by rail, water and air was taken by the Hooker school children Wednesday morning in the company of Miss Minch. To test the quality of southern sunshine, they left Hooker by way of train to Los Angeles and then on to New Orleans. From there they traveled to New York by boat. Starting inland from Washington, D.C., they headed for Chicago where they made a short stay. After spending a few days in the Twin Cities, they returned home by way of Canada.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The Wonders Of Blood

BLOOD is truly one of the most remarkable elements of the body. Constant new discoveries increase our knowledge of the blood and yet fail to uncover all the secrets that lie within it. Blood is composed of plasma in which red cells, white cells and platelets are suspended.

The red cells have a most important function in binding hemoglobin which plays a vital role of transporting oxygen. Oxygen is probably the single most important factor in maintaining life and good health in all the tissues of the body.

One of the most significant functions of the white blood cells is to act as defenders when germs invade the body. An immediate call is made to the white blood cells to collect around the bacteria and keep infection well localized. An absence which "comes to a head" on the skin or elsewhere on the body is due to the healthy formation of pus. This is formed by nature's defense mechanism that uses the white blood cells as front line defenders against such infection.

Platelets play an important role in the complicated mechanism of blood clotting. The science of hematology is probably one of the most exact ones known to medicine. Disorders and abnormalities in the blood that produce anemia, leukemia, and a score of other blood diseases can be accurately determined and followed during active treatment to indicate improvement and control. Too often people are tempted to make their own "home-made" diagnosis of anemia when actually it probably does not exist. Only by blood study can this condition be determined and, if present, the type of treatment automatically follows.

The choice of anesthesia can never be made by the patient. Specialists in the field of anesthesiology are now so highly trained that they custom-choose the type of anesthesia for each particular patient and for the type of surgery involved. There are now new gases like halothane which are replacing or being used in conjunction with other gases. Nitrous oxide, ether, cyclopropane, and chloroform are still used for very special purposes with great efficiency and safety.

As a surgeon I really believe that a good anesthesiologist is one of the most important members of the surgical team. Today they are highly trained and not only do they prepare the patient emotionally but give great sustenance to the surgeon by their ability to increase the safety of this part of surgery.

At a very early age it is imperative that young girls be taught that there is no shame or "dirty aspect" to menstruation. The use of terms like "the curse" or "falling off the roof" is symbolic of poor or inadequate teaching of the wonders of body function.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Epilepsy should not be kept secret from fellow workers.

CYO Captures Church 'A' League Unbeaten; First Methodist Are Their Final Victims

Red Bluff's CYO basketball squad wrapped up an outstanding Church "A" League season last night with a brilliant 74-44 victory over First Methodist. The win gives the CYO cagers undisputed first place honors in the final standings as they completed the season untied, and undefeated. It was their tenth win. First Methodist, which wound up in last place with a 2-8 record, played fine heads-up ball for the first 16 minutes of play, tying up the contest several times, but their lack of height gave way to the taller CYO squad in the final two quarters. The luckless First Methodist players trailed by only four points at the end of the half, and in the opening minutes of the third frame they continued to hold on.

CYO then poured on the steam, and continued to extend their lead and as the final horn sounded they walked off the court with a big 30-point victory. Tom Hoss led the CYO charge as he has done all season long. Last night, Hoss set the hoops afire with 10 field goals, and went four for five from the charity line for a total of 24 big points. Also scoring in double figures for the Church "A" League champs was Nolan Banwarth with 15 tallies, Jim Johnstone, 12, and Tom Kucek with 10 points.

For First Methodist, speedy Carl Van Dyke led the scoring charge with 22 points, while teammate Darrel Hughart picked up 10 points.

In the only other contest decided in the high school boys gym last night, tragedy struck the Presbyterian squad in the final seconds, as they came up on the short end of a close 49-47 decision with Episcopal picking up the victory.

Neilson was top scorer in the battle with a total of 23 points. He was the only player on the Episcopal squad to score double digits.

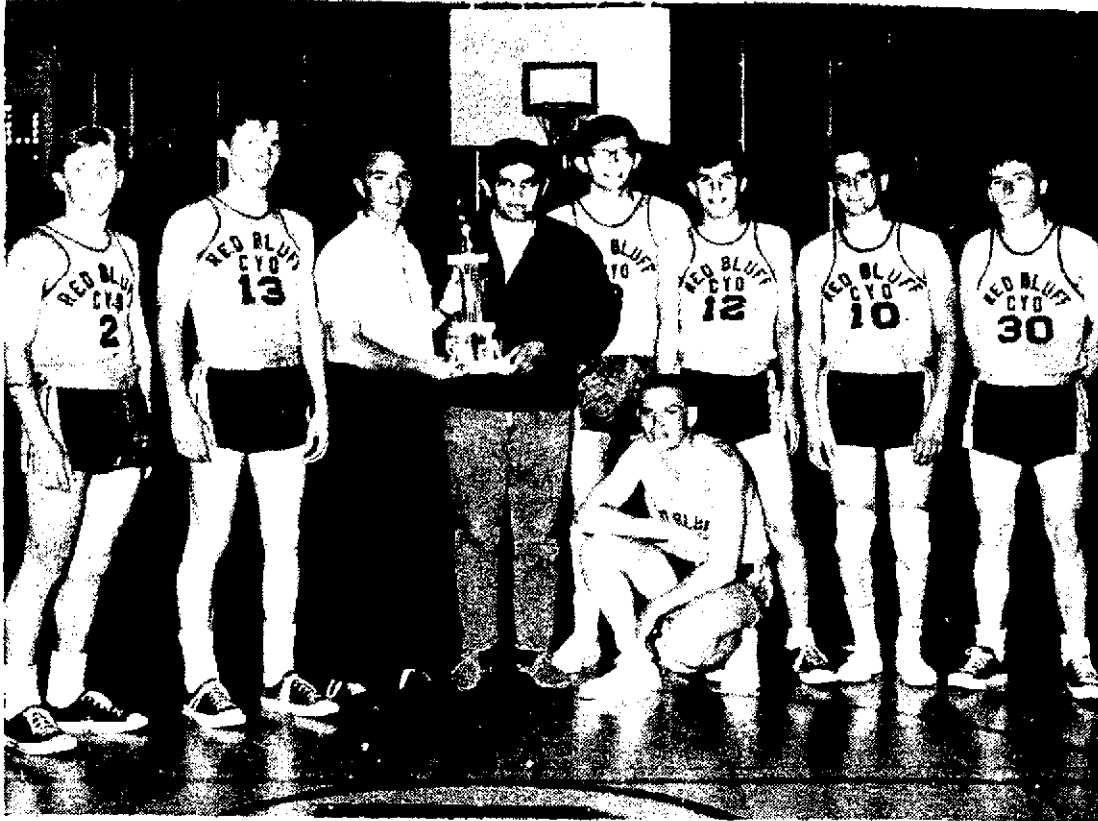

Presbyterian had two players scoring in twin figures as George Phillips led the scoring with 15, while teammate Larry Vicars picked up five field goals and four free throws for a total of 14 tallies.

At intermission between the first and second games last night, Roger Gibbs, representing the City Parks and Recreation Commission, presented trophies to three teams.

The first trophy went to CYO for first place in the Church

Wilcox Oaks Golfing

Just because we didn't mention George Stutz and Don H. Smith and their 64 on the first round of over and under tourney, doesn't mean the world is coming to an end. Boy, what a burst of "How Comes" — did we receive and not from the forgotten boys either. First, we are sorry for the error. It worked out well in pencil but we lost their names in the typewriter. In checking the names of the winners, it seems as though their names have been lost again, when a "sandbagger" goes wild, you might just as well pick up your tent and quietly steal away.

Homer Angelich and Harold Schoelen, cleared the field with a 128. Homer shot an 82, the last round and Harold chipped in on #18 for a three and with a stroke coming scored a two for the hole. This is hard to beat. The teams of Don Allen and Leonard Moore; Bob Goni and Bernie Smith are tied with a 129 to be played off in the near future.

The boys also had a sweepstakes, and here we go again. Homer Angelich shot a net 65 and in case you didn't know he has a 17 handicap. Wonder what happened to the tournament chairman who was going to whittle these handicaps down to size.

Next in line is Don Allen and Deb Harmon each 67, Bob Goni 68, Ed Laskey and Bob Jones each 71, Herb Bowe 72, and George Stutz, Dr. Voorhies, Don Crane, Ed Killgreen and Bernie Smith each 73. Nice golfing, boys.

Thursday, April 3 is the Crystal Invitational, in case you men may have forgotten. For those of you who may not be participating in this event, be sure to check with the Pro Shop as to a tee-off time. The course will be closed to all outside play for a time.

Sunday, April 6, is the Annual Easter Egg Hunt, inclusive of food, fun and prizes. Brunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the egg hunt starting at 1:30. Let's not disappoint the bunny.

Thursday, April 17, is the Annual Cowboy Tournament. This is a fun day, in case you may have forgotten a sign up sheet is in the Pro Shop so get with it and sign up.

The first tourney for our high school team proved a victory for them over Anderson. Their course is a nine hole par 37. George Pettinger and Curt Ritter tied with a 39, Bob Clements 43, Chet Christenson 44, and Andrew Brooks 46 giving them a team score of 211 over Anderson's 219. Understand the coach ventured out and chalked up a 39. Don't see many of those.

Our gals had a blind bogey last Wednesday with first place honors, in a tie, going to Dorothy Ellis and Dora Mendonsa. Second spot, and a four-way tie to Jeanette Ehorn, Bobbie Archibald, Shirley Byrne and Ethel Timone. On the weekend a sweepstakes was run for the gals and would you believe our "Scalper" Pinky Edwards came in with a 71, and Irma Metteer second with a 79. Nice going gals.

The Ladies Sudden Death Tourney which has been scheduled and rescheduled has finally drawn its last breath and there shall be none. Pairings for this week's play will be made on the tee Wednesday, a.m. Please check in by 9 a.m. at the pro shop. Are you repairing your divots and ball marks? Let's get with it and keep our course as nice as Al and his crew make it. See you in the Pro Shop.

gave way to the taller CYO squad in the final two quarters. The luckless First Methodist players trailed by only four points at the end of the half, and in the opening minutes of the third frame they continued to hold on. CYO then poured on the steam, and continued to extend their lead and as the final horn sounded they walked off the court with a big 30-point victory. Tom Hoss led the CYO charge as he has done all season long. Last night, Hoss set the hoops afire with 10 field goals, and went four for five from the charity line for a total of 24 big points. Also scoring in double figures for the Church "A" League champs was Nolan Banwarth with 15 tallies, Jim Johnstone, 12, and Tom Kucek with 10 points.

For First Methodist, speedy Carl Van Dyke led the scoring charge with 22 points, while teammate Darrel Hughart picked up 10 points.

In the only other contest decided in the high school boys gym last night, tragedy struck the Presbyterian squad in the final seconds, as they came up on the short end of a close 49-47 decision with Episcopal picking up the victory.

Neilson was top scorer in the battle with a total of 23 points. He was the only player on the Episcopal squad to score double digits.

Presbyterian had two players scoring in twin figures as George Phillips led the scoring with 15, while teammate Larry Vicars picked up five field goals and four free throws for a total of 14 tallies.

At intermission between the first and second games last night, Roger Gibbs, representing the City Parks and Recreation Commission, presented trophies to three teams. The first trophy went to CYO for first place in the Church

Just because we didn't mention George Stutz and Don H. Smith and their 64 on the first round of over and under tourney, doesn't mean the world is coming to an end. Boy, what a burst of "How Comes" — did we receive and not from the forgotten boys either. First, we are sorry for the error. It worked out well in pencil but we lost their names in the typewriter. In checking the names of the winners, it seems as though their names have been lost again. When a "sandbagger" goes wild, you might just as well pick up your tent and quietly steal away.

Homer Angelich and Harold Schoelen, cleared the field with a 128. Homer shot an 82, the last round and Harold chipped in on #18 for a three and with a stroke coming scored a two for the hole. This is hard to beat. The teams of Don Allen and Leonard Moore; Bob Goni and Bernie Smith are tied with a 129 to be played off in the near future.

The boys also had a sweepstakes, and here we go again. Homer Angelich shot a net 65 and in case you didn't know he has a 17 handicap. Wonder what happened to the tournament chairman who was going to whittle these handicaps down to size.

Next in line is Don Allen and Deb Harmon each 67, Bob Goni 68, Ed Laskey and Bob Jones each 71, Herb Bowe 72, and George Stutz, Dr. Voorhies, Don Crane, Ed Killgreen and Bernie Smith each 73. Nice golfing, boys.

Thursday, April 3 is the Crystal Invitational, in case you men may have forgotten. For those of you who may not be participating in this event, be sure to check with the Pro Shop as to a tee-off time. The course will be closed to all outside play for a time.

Sunday, April 6, is the Annual Easter Egg Hunt, inclusive of food, fun and prizes. Brunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., with the egg hunt starting at 1:30. Let's not disappoint the bunnies.

Thursday, April 17, is the Annual Cowboy Tournament. This is a fun day, in case you may have forgotten a sign up sheet is in the Pro Shop so get with it and sign up.

The first tourney for our high school team proved a victory for them over Anderson. Their course is a nine hole par 37. George Pettinger and Curt Ritter tied with a 39, Bob Clements 43, Chet Christenson 44, and Andrew Brooks 46 giving them a team score of 211 over Anderson's 219. Understand the coach ventured out and chalked up a 39. Don't see many of those.

Our gals had a blind bogey last Wednesday with first place honors, in a tie, going to Dorothy Ellis and Dora Mendonsa. Second spot, and a four-way tie to Jeanette Ehorn, Bobbie Archibald, Shirley Byrne and Ethel Timone. On the weekend a sweepstakes was run for the gals and would you believe our "Scalper" Pinky Edwards came in with a 71, and Irma Metteer second with a 79. Nice going gals.

The Ladies Sudden Death Tourney which has been scheduled and rescheduled has finally drawn its last breath and there shall be none. Pairings for this week's play will be made on the tee Wednesday, a.m. Please check in by 9 a.m. at the pro shop. Are you repairing your divots and ball marks? Let's get with it and keep our course as nice as Al and his crew make it. See you in the Pro Shop.

Judge's Death May Give Ray Jury Trial

By DOUG STONE
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Judge W. Preston Battle has died of a heart attack, raising the possibility that Tennessee may have to give James Earl Ray the trial by jury he now says he wants.

The 60-year-old jurist was found dead in his chambers Monday night. On March 10 he had accepted Ray's plea of guilty to the murder of Martin Luther King Jr. and sentenced him to 99 years in prison.

Later Judge Battle disclosed Ray had written from the state penitentiary advising that he wanted to withdraw his plea and stand trial.

Charles Galbreath, a Tennessee Appeals Court judge, said today that if the letter is construed as a motion for a new trial, the state would have to give Ray one.

Galbreath said such a motion must be granted under state law if the trial judge dies or is judged insane while the case is pending.

In the case of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus—where a prisoner claims his rights were denied — Tennessee Supreme Court Chief Justice Hamilton Burnett said Battle's death would have no effect on the case.

"It makes no difference at all," Burnett said, adding that a petition of this kind could be filed with another judge.

Criminal Court Clerk James A. Blackwell said that no motion for a new trial nor a writ of habeas corpus was on file in his office. He did not speculate on how Ray's letter might be interpreted.

Blackwell said Ray would almost certainly have been entitled to a new trial if Battle had not signed the minutes of the March 10 hearing where the guilty plea was made. But Blackwell said that was a detail the judge had completed.

Battle's body was found by James Beasley, an assistant district attorney general who was one of the prosecutors in Ray's case.

Beasley said he had tried unsuccessfully to reach Battle during the afternoon and noticed the lights still on in the chambers in the Criminal Court-county jail building when leaving for home.

"I just thought something might be wrong," said Beasley. He said he opened the door to the chambers and found Battle slumped over his desk.

Chinese Communist Congress In Session

TOKYO (AP)—The congress of the Chinese Communist party went into its first session since 1956 in Peking today and Chairman Mao Tse-tung gave an important address, Peking radio reported.

Red Chinese broadcasts have been saying for some time that the congress—expected to approve a new constitution drafted at Mao's direction—was forthcoming soon.

The constitution names Defense Minister Lin Biao as Mao's successor and opens the way for appointment as well as election to leading organs of the party.

The radio said Lin was on the platform with Mao as the congress opened. Other officials on the platform included Premier Chou En-lai, Deputy Premier Liu Po-cheng, Chen Po-ta, a central committee member who was chief of Mao's purge, and two influential Politburo members, Kang Shen and Tung Piao.

This is the ninth congress. It was repeatedly delayed because of the convulsions of the Proletarian revolution, or purge, that Mao began in 1966.

The purge resulted in the overthrow of President Liu Shao-chi, who was ousted from his government and party positions by the Central Committee last November.

China watchers generally assumed that because Liu had such a broad following in the party, Mao was forced to delay calling the congress. It is now assumed Liu's followers have been weeded out.

The broadcast said the congress, attended by 1,572 representatives, elected Mao as chairman, Lin as vice chairman and Chou as secretary-general.

John L. Schrupp

John Lawrence Schrupp, 86, 619 Cowles Ave., Red Bluff, died in his home early this morning following a long illness. He had been in this community 29 years and was a retired painter and paper hanger. Mr. Schrupp is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marion McDonald of Grand Forks, North Dakota. Funeral services will be held in the Norman Funeral Home in Grand Forks, North Dakota. Hickert-Mason Chapel is in charge of local arrangements.

Vernon Habert

CORNING — A requiem mass for Vernon A. Habert was offered by the Rev. John J. Kyne at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Stanislaus Church in Tehama. Mr. Habert, a member of the Tehama City Council and owner of the Tehama Grocery, died March 26 in Corning Memorial Hospital.

A rosary service was held at 8 p.m. Friday in Hall Brothers' Chapel in Corning.

Burial was in the Tehama Cemetery, with C.A. Stromness, L.E. Kreps, James Lauderdale, Harold Belbeck, Sid Campbell, and C.R. Gilbert as pallbearers.

Alma Cairns

CORNING — Many friends paid their final respects to Mrs. Alma Louise Cairns at funeral services held at 10 a.m. yesterday in Hall Brothers' Chapel, with the Rev. Mike Capiello, of the Paskenta Community Church, officiating.

Mrs. Cairns died March 27 in Corning Memorial Hospital, following a long illness. She was co-owner of The Paskenta Club with Roy E. Connell who was erroneously listed as a brother. He was not a relative, according to the family.

Final rites were conducted at the graveside in the Paskenta Cemetery, where friends of the Paskenta-Flournoy area awaited the arrival of the funeral cortege.

Pallbearers were Lloyd King, Joe Duncan, John Stevens, G.H. Whitlock, Clinton Murphy and Harold Mason.

Esther Printy

CORNING — Mrs. Esther Mae Hodges Printy, 78, a former resident of the San Jose area, died early Sunday at the home of her son, Frank Printy, on Moon Road. She had been in failing health, and had moved to Corning last year to reside with her son.

MORE ABOUT St. Elizabeth

General Hospital, and that long-term patients be sent some place else, such as Mendocino State Hospital. Last night it was suggested that even the 72-hour patients could be accommodated at St. Elizabeth.

Sister Mary Carmelita, St. Elizabeth Hospital administrator, said she thought it might be possible, though she did not give a definite answer.

Kibsgaard pointed out that St. Elizabeth Hospital several years ago had received a grant for establishing a psychiatric unit, and said he thought the facility under the Short-Doyle program should be there.

Sister Mary Carmelita explained that the psychiatric unit was converted to coronary care when it was decided to establish a Short-Doyle program at Tehama General Hospital, but said that she saw no reason why psychiatric patients could not still be treated at St. Elizabeth.

MARKETS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today, after three straight sessions of advance. Trading was moderately active near the close.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 1:30 p.m. was off 2.59 points at 932.89.

Gains and losses were about even near the close. Gains had held a margin of about 250 issues in early trading.

Prices near the close included:

Occidental Petroleum, off 5/8 at 42-7/8; Owens-Illinois, up 1/2 at 73; Jones & Laughlin, up 5/8 at 29-1/4; Fuqua Industries, up 2 at 38-7/8, and Barmec Corp., up 1/4 at 17. Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Profit-taking on recent gains was blamed in part by brokers for the down turn.

Brokers said the market apparently drew its early strength from commuted peace hopes. Such hopes were given much of the credit for the three straight advances the market made last week. The market was closed Monday in respect for former President Eisenhower's memory.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 337.4, with Industrials up .2, rails off .2, and utilities up .8.

A number of blocks changed hands in early trading. They included: American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/8 at 51-3/4 on 15,000 shares; General Electric, off 1/8 at 92-1/8 on 14,300 shares; International Paper, up 1/4 at 42-7/8 on 11,500 shares; International Telephone & Telegraph, up 1-1/8 on 18,000 shares; Occidental Petroleum, up 3/8 at 44-3/8 on 24,600 shares; and Jones & Laughlin, off 1/8 at 29-1/2 on 20,000 shares.

Course In Navajo

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — The University of New Mexico's Gallup branch is conducting a course in the difficult Navajo language.

The course is an effort to bridge the gap between the Navajo and non-Navajo residents in the Gallup area, which is near the Navajo Reservation, largest in the United States.

The class is being taken by lawyers, educators, doctors, missionaries, merchants and housewives.

Late Tax Returns Will Risk State Filing Penalties

Californians who wait until the last minute to prepare their State personal income tax returns may be missing proper deductions as well as running the risk of incurring late filing penalties.

The deadline for submitting fully-paid State income tax returns is April 15, but no one should wait until that date to prepare his return, said Martin Huff, executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board.

"Frequently," Huff said, taxpayers overlook valid deductions or cannot locate necessary substantiation for deductions in the rush to post their return prior to the deadline. "If they wait past the deadline, they will be subject to an immediate five percent penalty and additional penalties of five percent for each thirty days of delinquency," he warned. Maximum delinquency penalty is 25 percent.

There is another danger, Huff noted. The taxpayer may find the liability greater than his immediate cash resources and, if he waits until the very last day, he may not be able to make necessary arrangements to obtain financial assistance.

State income tax returns must be filed by individuals whose adjusted gross income exceeded $3,250 in 1968. Married couples with a combined adjusted gross income in excess of $6,500 are required to file.

Natural Resource Course Is Offered At Shasta College

REDDING — University of California, Davis, extension at Redding will offer a course in Natural Resource Management from April 7-June 9 at Shasta College.

This course is an introduction to the environment of the Pacific Coast including studies of animals, plants, soils and their relationships. Special emphasis will be placed on the natural resources of Northern California. This class is designed for elementary and secondary teachers as well as for others interested in natural resources.

Fee for the course is $40 and the credit will be three quarter units. Prerequisite is teaching credential or consent of the instructor. The course will be taught in Room 1212, Shasta College.

Officials Believe 168 Miners Trapped After Gas Explosion

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Officials reported 168 miners are believed trapped today in a coal mine ripped by a tremendous methane gas explosion in Coahuila State.

The blast tore through the mine Monday afternoon. As of this morning six bodies had been brought out, said officials of the company, Altos Hornos de Mexico.

Muskie's Aides Say Talks Will Aid Candidacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's wide-ranging political travels have paid off with a blizzard of speaking invitations and aides say "he has to be taken seriously" as possible 1972 presidential candidate.

By the end of April, an aide said, the Maine Democrat who was his party's 1968 vice-presidential nominee, will have made 60 speeches in 27 states this year, an average of one every two days.

He has also made speeches in Japan, Britain and Canada and is solidly booked into June.

YANKEE DOODLE HOUSE

RENSELAER, N. Y. (AP) — Fort Crailo, built in 1700 as a manor house and fortress, is preserved as the place where the song "Yankee Doodle" was composed.

ico. They added that one of the bodies was that of a rescue worker who was overcome by gas.

Gas still lingered in pockets of the two mine shafts where, according to work list data supplied by the company, the 168 men remained trapped.

The lists showed 43 miners trapped in the No. 3 shaft, where the explosion occurred. Officials said it was probably caused by a short circuit. Another 125 were trapped in the nearby No. 2 shaft, officials said. All were believed to be at a depth of about 1,700 feet.

Troops were rushed out to control victims' families who rioted at the tunnel entrances. The crowds calmed down later.

The mine is at Barroteran, with a population of 8,000 people, about 75 miles southwest of the Texas border town of Eagle Pass.

"It was a tremendous explosion, blowing parts of the mine entrance into the air," said Dr. Emilio Lopez of the Barroteran hospital, who witnessed the blast. "We have no injured. They were either all killed at the entrance or trapped below. The lucky ones had left."

"They were able to take out the bodies of some of the dead miners because they were on their way up and near the exit."

The mining company is one of Mexico's biggest coal producers.

Earlier Rolando Villareal, the company's public relations officer, had reported that officials believed 305 miners were trapped. This figure later was reduced by company officials who made further checks.

Officials Believe 168 Miners Trapped After Gas Explosion

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Officials reported 168 miners are believed trapped today in a coal mine ripped by a tremendous methane gas explosion in Coahuila State.

The blast tore through the mine Monday afternoon. As of this morning six bodies had been brought out, said officials of the company, Altos Hornos de Mexico.

Muskie's Aides Say Talks Will Aid Candidacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's wide-ranging political travels have paid off with a blizzard of speaking invitations and aides say "he has to be taken seriously" as possible 1972 presidential candidate.

By the end of April, an aide said, the Maine Democrat who was his party's 1968 vice-presidential nominee, will have made 60 speeches in 27 states this year, an average of one every two days.

He has also made speeches in Japan, Britain and Canada and is solidly booked into June.

YANKEE DOODLE HOUSE RENSELAER, N. Y. (AP) — Fort Crailo, built in 1700 as a manor house and fortress, is preserved as the place where the song "Yankee Doodle" was composed.

They added that one of the bodies was that of a rescue worker who was overcome by gas.

Gas still lingered in pockets of the two mine shafts where, according to work list data supplied by the company, the 168 men remained trapped.

The lists showed 43 miners trapped in the No. 3 shaft, where the explosion occurred. Officials said it was probably caused by a short circuit. Another 125 were trapped in the nearby No. 2 shaft, officials said. All were believed to be at a depth of about 1,700 feet.

Troops were rushed out to control victims' families who rioted at the tunnel entrances. The crowds calmed down later.

The mine is at Barroteran, with a population of 8,000 people, about 75 miles southwest of the Texas border town of Eagle Pass.

"It was a tremendous explosion, blowing parts of the mine entrance into the air," said Dr. Emilio Lopez of the Barroteran hospital, who witnessed the blast. "We have no injured. They were either all killed at the entrance or trapped below. The lucky ones had left."

"They were able to take out the bodies of some of the dead miners because they were on their way up and near the exit."

The mining company is one of Mexico's biggest coal producers.

Earlier Rolando Villareal, the company's public relations officer, had reported that officials believed 305 miners were trapped. This figure later was reduced by company officials who made further checks.
